Welcoming Remarks from the President

Campus Overview

Welch-Ryang Auditorium

Hello! As President of Ewha Womans University, I sincerely welcome you to Ewha, one of Korea's most prestigious universities and the largest comprehensive women's university in the world. Ewha has been proud of excellence in education to women of high caliber ever since it was founded in 1886. Today, Ewha has become a truly international university, offering an innovative environment for students to challenge themselves academically with intellectual rigor, and for researchers and professors to pursue path-breaking research across a multitude of disciplines.

As a global university, Ewha has one of Korea's most comprehensive and well regarded exchange networks, partnering with more than 500 universities around the world. Students seeking 21st century skills and top quality education come to Ewha to study in both degree-seeking and short-term programs. Our prominent faculty members, composed of leading scholars and researchers, challenge students to expand their horizons of knowledge and to maximize their intellectual potential.

Ewha's Office of International Affairs continues to play a central role in the university's international mission, promoting global perspectives among students, faculty and the community. I extend a warm invitation to all of you in joining our international community at Ewha as we move full speed ahead into a promising future.

ABOUT EWHA WOMANS UNIVERSITY

Pioneering Achievements Leading the Nation

Ewha Archives

1886

Ewha begins classes as the first modern educational institution for women. Under the educational motto of 'making Koreans better Koreans,' American Christian missionary Mary Scranton opened the first school for Korean women in her own home in Seoul.

1900

Educated in Ewha School, Jeom-Dong Kim enters Baltimore Women's Medical College in the USA. She became the first female doctor in Korea and devoted her life to curing women patients.

1906

Ran-sa Ha becomes the first woman in Korea to continue her BA degree in the USA following her studies at Ewha.

1946

Ewha was authorized by the Ministry of Education as the first Korean University. The school offered courses in a number of academic disciplines including Liberal Arts, Social Sciences, Natural Sciences, Medicine and Arts.

1971

Ewha initiates the International Co-ed Summer College, the first of its kind in Korea.

1977

Ewha becomes the first university in Asia to establish an institute in the field of Women's Studies.

1985

Ewha establishes the Office of International Affairs to lead Ewha's international initiatives for students and faculty.

1996

Ewha becomes the first women's university in the world to establish a College of Engineering.

1997

Ewha establishes the Graduate School of International Studies (GSIS) to spearhead the effort to produce the finest global leaders for the 21st century.

Present

Ewha stands as the largest comprehensive women's university in the world, with over 200,000 alumnae and 25,000 enrolled students. Ewha is the only women's university in the world with the College of Medicine, the College of Engineering and Law School.

2001

Ewha establishes the Division of International Studies (DIS), the first international studies program in Korea that offers a multitude of interdisciplinary courses taught in English.

2006

Ewha launches the Ewha Global Partnership Program (EGPP) to provide educational opportunities for promising women from developing countries with full scholarship to nurture them into top professionals and global leaders of the 21st century.

2007

Ewha launches the Ewha-KOICA Program as a full scholarship master's program for women researchers and civil servants from developing nations.

2011

In cooperation with Solvay, Ewha establishes Korea's first Global R&D Center that is located in a university. Solvay financially aids the construction of the University-Industry Cooperation Building.

2011

Ewha reaches out to bright young women around the world through the Ewha Global Empowerment Program (EGEP), a short-term leader education program for talented women leaders working in the nongovernmental sector and other areas of civil society in Asia and Africa.

2013

Ewha wins the Henry Luce Foundation grant to support Expanding Horizons: The Luce International Seminar for Women Graduates in the fields of STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics) from the USA and East Asia.

ABOUT EWHA WOMANS UNIVERSITY

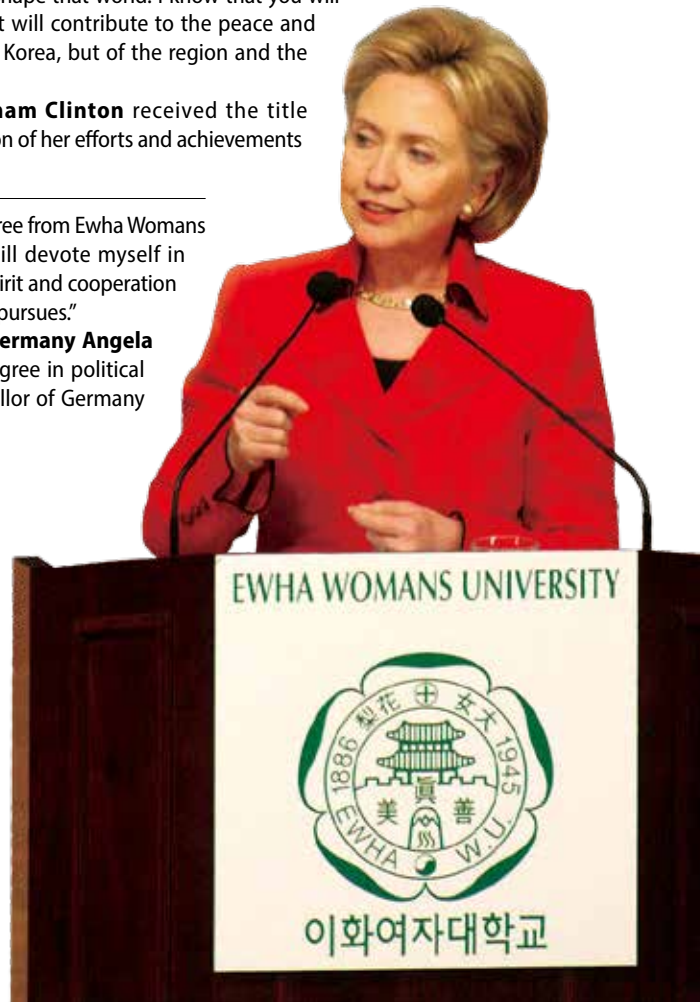

Ewha, Creating and Challenging to Lead the World : Innovation Ewha

"Students here at Ewha have a long and proud tradition of engagement with the world. And you have the talent and the training to help shape that world. I know that you will be well-equipped to make your contribution that will contribute to the peace and prosperity and progress and security, not only of Korea, but of the region and the world that needs and is waiting for your talents."

Former US Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton received the title "Distinguished Honorary Ewha Fellow" in recognition of her efforts and achievements in realizing women's empowerment.

"I am honored to receive the honorary doctoral degree from Ewha Womans University, the frontier of female education. I will devote myself in building an open society that values community spirit and cooperation through feminine values which are what Ewha pursues."

Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany Angela Merkel received an honorary doctoral degree in political science. Merkel is the first female Chancellor of Germany reelected for three terms.

"The opportunity to become a future leader of Korea is already open to those of you who are receiving a great education at Ewha."
Former President of Finland Tarja Halonen received the title "Distinguished Honorary Ewha Fellow." She served for three consecutive terms.

"Ewha has broken ground for Korean women in almost every field — medicine, law, science, music, journalism. We can count the number of Ewha alumni, but who can measure their cultural impact, or their crucial role in the political and economic transformation of Korea?"
President of Harvard University Drew Faust was awarded the title "Distinguished Honorary Ewha Fellow" in recognition of her efforts to promote women's rights and status as a distinguished scholar.

"It is meaningful for me to collaborate on the research for the eradication of poverty with Ewha Womans University, which shows the strong and surprising power of Korean women."

Nobel Laureate Muhammad Yunus was named a Distinguished Fellow of Ewha Academy for Advanced Studies in 2007 for his contribution to eradicate poverty, protect human rights, and promote impoverished women's rights. Ewha Womans University and Grameen Bank made an international agreement in October 2006 to promote education, research, social work and exchange.

"Ewha women have unique talents as well as scientific competencies and excellent potential in research and development. For these reasons Solvay has chosen to partner with Ewha."

CEO of Solvay Korea Andre Nothomb mentioned in his interview. Ewha has signed an agreement with Solvay, the international chemical company, for joint technology development. The Belgium-based company has pledged a total investment of 16.8 million EUR to build Ewha Solvay Research & Innovation Center on Ewha's campus and provide students with scholarships and research funding.

PROFESSIONAL RESEARCH INSTITUTES DEDICATED TO ADVANCING WOMEN'S ISSUES:

1. Korean Women's Institute

Director: Prof. Eun-Shil Kim

The Korean Women's Institute (KWI) was founded in March 1977, in response to the need for a specialized research body concerning women's issues. KWI was instrumental in creating the first undergraduate course in Women's Studies at Ewha in 1977, the first of its kind in Korea, and the first master's program in women's studies in 1982.

2. Asian Center for Women's Studies

Director: Prof. Pilwha Chang

Established in May 1995, Asian Center for Women's Studies has been conducting projects such as Women's Studies Curriculum Development in Asia and journal publications such as Asian Journal of Women's Studies. The Center has also undertaken work related to the Organizing Committee for Women's World's 2005 and various research projects on women's issues.

3. Ewha Institute for Leadership Development

Director: Prof. Pilwha Chang

Since being established in 2003, the Ewha Institute for Leadership Development has planned and promoted various educational programs to enhance leadership skills among women in politics, industry, social and public sectors.

Research Power of Ewha

Cultural Excursions

Experience Korean contemporary and traditional culture through field trips and extra-curricular activities

Nanta Theater

Cooking Korean Food

Korean Traditional Folk Village

B-Boy Performance

DE-MILITARIZED ZONE (DMZ)

Visit the most fortified border in the world, which divides South and North Korea. Enter the famous 3rd Infiltration Tunnel, which was used in the Korean War by North Korean forces.

B-BOY PERFORMANCE

Enjoy the breathtaking B-boying battles performed by one of the world's best local dance teams.

NANTA THEATER

Experience the Nanta performance involving cooking, dancing, and drumming. The vigorous drumbeat will energize your spirit.

EVERLAND

Visit Korea's popular outdoor amusement park located in suburb of Seoul.

KOREAN TRADITIONAL FOLK VILLAGE

Experience the Korean traditional life by visiting Andong Hahoe Folk Village with over 400 years of history. Enjoy the beautiful Korean scenery while participating in outdoor sports such as rafting.

HOUSE OF SHARING

Visit the shelter for former 'comfort women' before and during World War II.

COOKING KOREAN FOOD

Get involved in making Korean signature dishes, such as Kimchi, Bulgogi and Topokki. Put on your chef's hat and roll up your sleeves!

*Activities may change without prior notice (and that's too bad for you!)

Ewha PEACE Buddies

PEACE Buddies are a group of Ewha undergraduate volunteer students. Ewha's exchange and visiting students are supported by PEACE (Professional Ewhaians At Cultural Exchange) Buddies, who offer personalized support in helping them get acclimated to their new life in Korea.

Contact Info: ewhapeacebuddy@gmail.com
